

AMERICAN ROULETTE

Rules of Play

The bets

Even money bets

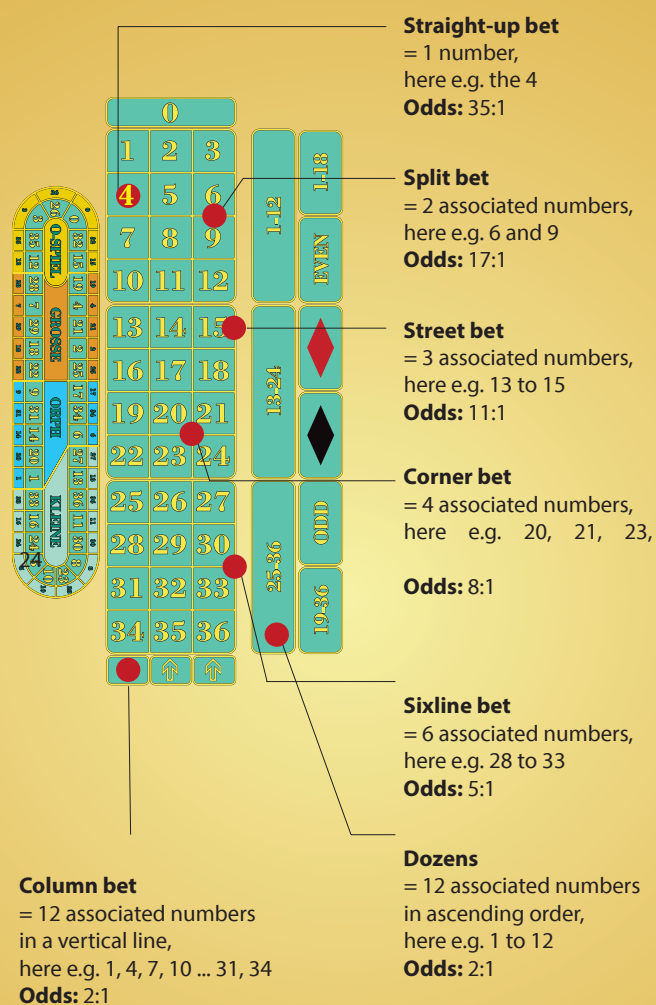

All 18 red or all 18 black numbers on the wheel.

All 18 even or all 18 odd numbers.

All 18 numbers in the upper half of the number field (manque) or all 18 numbers in the lower half of the number field (passe).

Odds: 1:1

If zero (0) comes up, all even money bets made are reduced by half.

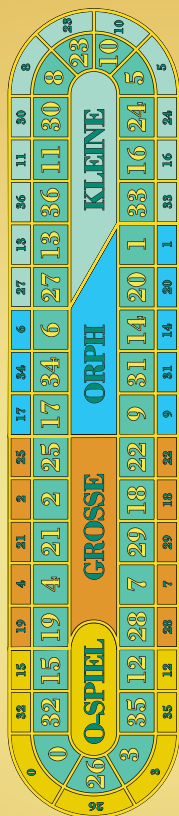

Once all odds for the respective bets have been paid, the player can once again use their winning pot.

AMERICAN ROULETTE

Rules of Play

Standard games

Wheel series

Small series (6 chips)

Orphans (5 chips)

Big series (9 chips)

Zero wheel (4 chips)

Number field games

7/9 game (6 chips)

Finales

e.g. finale 7 (3 chips)

or finale 3/6 (4 chips)

Neighbours: a number and its neighbours on the wheel, e.g. "14 two neighbours" or "14-2-2" (5 chips)

Position on the wheel

Position on the number field

This is also possible with "1-1" (3 chips), "3-3" (7 chips) and "4-4" (9 chips).

American Roulette is mainly played with American chips. These are available in different colours at the table.

Simply ask the croupier for a free colour. You determine the value of your colour yourself and the croupier marks your colours with the corresponding value chip. In the interest of a faster game, the players place their bets themselves whenever possible.

The numbers on the so-called racetrack are arranged in the same order as on the roulette wheel, making it much easier to place neighbour bets. You will also find the fields for the big series, small series, orphans and zero game here.

When you want to finish your game and leave the table, the croupier must first exchange your American chips back to value chips, as the value of your colour is only marked at this table and thus only valid here. These chips can only later be changed back at the table minimum.
